SOLOMON DREW takes the present opportunity of returning his grateful thanks to the public, for the liberal encouragement he has received since his commencement in business, and begs leave to assure them that no exertion has been spared to render his establishment convenient for the reception of travellers and a desirable house for respectable boarders. His stock of wines, liquors, beer, &c. have been selected with attention, and he trusts they will be found not inferior to any in the district. His stabling is fitted up in the best manner, and well adapted for travellers, or others who wish to have their horses kept by the month, week, or otherwise. At the suggestion of some of his friends, he has appropriated a part of his house to the Oyster Business, where will be furnished oyster suppers in the most comfortable manner and reasonable terms.

Notice.

DIFFICULTIES arising from the nature of the following work, the publisher has been compelled to remove to Philadelphia for the better execution of his plan. The editorial department has in consequence fallen into other hands. Mr. ALLEN'S present engagement rendering it impossible to superintend it in another city. The friends and relations of the different signers to the Declaration of Independence are therefore requested to direct their favors to the publisher, No. 443, Market-street, Philadelphia.

PROPOSALS
By Joseph M Sanderson,
For Publishing by Subscription,
A Biography of the Signers
OF THE
Declaration of Independence,
Accompanied with Plates.

To which will be annexed a History of the Proceedings of Congress, during the passage of the Law, and the Declaration itself, with the fac simile Engravings of the Signatures.

By JOHN SANDERSON.

TO THE PUBLIC.

When we consider the personal qualities of the statesmen whose names are affixed to the Declaration of Independence, the perilous occasion which demanded the exercise of their wisdom and deliberation, and the influence of their councils on the interests of mankind, we must acknowledge that very rarely a more imposing spectacle has been offered to the world, and we shall seek in vain in the annals of nations, for an event more worthy of commemoration, and of being cherished forever in the hearts of a grateful and generous people. The love of independence is interwoven with the frame and constitution of the human mind. It is almost the first sentiment that animates the infant's features in the cradle; and amongst all the actions and enterprizes of man, none has awaked into activity a greater exertion of the virtuous energies of his nature, none has excited a greater warmth of veneration, and has more imperious claims upon our gratitude, than resistance to tyranny and political aggression.

In all republican states the first tribute of genius has been paid to the patriot or the hero who has promoted the cause of liberty and maintained the independence and dignity of man. The animated canvas and breathing marble have rescued his features from the grasp of death, and the pen of the historian has inscribed the achievements to the imperishable records of fame. It would indeed be no favorable prognostic of the perpetuity of our republican institutions to discover an insensibility to the obligations we owe the memory of the illustrious patrons of American freedom. They have raised us, by their magnanimity, from the arbitrary dominion of a foreign power, to the distinguished elevation of a sovereign and independent people; they have asserted and maintained the imprescriptible rights of humanity by the "mutual pledge of their pledge of their lives; their fortunes and their sacred honors;" and, as long as virtue holds her empire in the hearts of their successors, the example of these generous benefactors will not be lost to the world; their names will not pass away nor be forgotten, or their glorious deeds be confounded in the common and casual transaction of life.—Ingratitude is a vice that in nations, as well as individuals, indicates the last degree of degeneracy and corruption; it is a vice that implies the absence of every virtue; it was in the age of Caligula that the name of the Scipios was proscribed, that the state of Brutus brought death on its possessor.

"The glory of our ancestors is the light of posterity," and the homage of the living cannot be offered to the merits of the illustrious dead with an effectual or sterile admiration. Great and splendid actions will seldom be achieved by men who have humble or ordinary objects in prospect. It is by contemplating the life and character of those who are marked out from the multitude by their eminent qualities, that we become emulous of their virtues and their renown. The trophies of Miltiades interrupted the sleeps of Themistocles; and Theseus, hearing the exploits of Hercules, was fired with his spirit, and became the successful rival of his fame. The rude savage of the desert listens with rapture to the deeds of his ancestors, and hangs around his but the emblems of his father's valour.

More need not be said to enforce the utility of the publication we have undertaken, and which we now submit to the patronage of our fellow-citizens, with a hope, that from the liberality of their encouragement, we shall be able to present it to the public worthy of their approbation. We must depend for the illustration of many of the characters of our biography, upon the generosity of their surviving relatives and friends, to furnish us with whatever interesting materials may be in their possession; for which, with our grateful acknowledgments, we promise a copy of the entire work as a compensation.

CONDITIONS.

I. The work will be published in numbers or half volumes of 200 pages, octavo, and contained in ten numbers. To the first will be prefixed an appropriate frontispiece—and the work will be commenced with the declaration of independence, with engraved fac similes of the signatures, and a compendious detail of the proceedings of congress, during the passage of the law. Each of the lives, unless when it is impracticable, will be preceded by a likeness of the person, engraved by the best artists in the United States.

II. It will be printed on fine paper, made expressly for the purpose, and delivered to subscribers at two dollars and fifty cents per number, payable on delivery.

SELECTED.

THE BOY AND BUTTERFLY.

Translated from the French.

'Twas in a garden sweet and gay,
A beauteous boy rov'd with delight;
Before him, in a rich display
Of colors, glittering in the ray,
A butterfly attracts his sight.

From flower to flower the fickle thing
In many a sportive ringlet flies,
And seems so lovely on the wing.
No weariness the chase can bring,
Though vainly the pursuit he tries.

Now on a pink in balmy rest,
He strives to make the prize his own;
Now on a rose's fragrant breast,
He thinks his flight he shall arrest,
But, lo! again the wanton's flown.

And still the chase no toil can bring,
Though vainly the pursuit he tries;
So tempting seems the loving thing,
Thus seen at distance on the wing,
Still glittering in his ardent eyes.

And now he hopes to tantalize,
Behold it on a myrtle near!
Next on a violent bank it lies—
He steals, and with his hat he tries
To cover the gay flutterer here.

But all in vain each art and while
To catch the beauteous playful thing;
Yet still he disregards his toil,
Its beauties still his pains beguile,
Thus seen before him on the wing.

At last the flutterer he espies,
Half buried in a tulip's bell,
He grasps the flower in glad surprise—
Within his grasp the insect dies:—
His vain regrets, his tears now tell.

Thus pleasure, that gay butterfly,
In prospect cheers the mind,
But if too eagerly we clasp,
It perishes within our grasp,
And leaves a sting behind.

MARRIAGE OF WILLIAM WALLACE.

Sir William Wallace married Marion Bradfoot, the beautiful heiress of Lammington. Of the same age, and brought up from childhood together, recripocal affection grew with their growth; and sympathy of taste, virtues and mutual tenderness, gradually mingled their spirits, made them so entirely one that when at the age of twenty-two the enraptured lover was allowed by his grand-father to pledge that faith publicly at the altar which he had so often vowed to his Marion in secret, he clasped her to his heart, and softly whispered—"Dearer than life! part of my being now and for ever! blessed is this union that mingles thy soul with mine to all eternity!"

A LADY'S GARTER.

It is not the first time in English history that a lady's garter has acquired celebrity; but an occurrence of rather a ludicrous nature took place a short time since, in consequence of an unhappy blunder respecting a garter. Sir Isaac Heard, Garter King at Arms, was spending some weeks at a watering place on the southern coast on Devonshire, where he was much visited by the neighboring gentry, and in returning their visits, left his card at the several houses, whose inhabitants happened to be absent from home. Sir Isaac Heard values himself upon being the oldest sovereign in Europe; and in consequence has his royal insignia, the crown and sceptre, George and garter, engraved upon his card, and has his name inserted on the garter. A lady of the neighborhood, not exactly acquainted with the style, title, rank, and dignity of this venerable sovereign, chanced to light on one of Sir Isaac's name cards, and apprehending that he was a man of some rank from London, she took it for granted that it was a prevailing new fashion in town to have name cards with garters on them.—Thinking it was as good to be out of the world as out of the fashion, she immediately sent an order to an engraver to have her name engraved, and upon no account to forget the new fashion of engraving it upon a garter. The engraver faithfully executed the order; the printer struck off the impression without loss of time; and the lady proceeded to leave her garter behind at the house of every acquaintance, who, fortunately for her, was not at home, quite unconscious that it might at least have been a prudent precaution to have inscribed honi soit qui mal y pense. She however found herself sufficiently quized by the waggish batchelors, to discover the sad mistake she had fallen into. This is a true story, and occurred only four years ago, at a place not twenty miles from Exeter, where Sir Isaac attended the public balls, and was thought by the ladies to dance remarkably well.

[Bell Lettres Repository.

ALEXANDRIA:
FRIDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 5.

The President of the United States and his family returned to the seat of government, on Monday evening, from Virginia.

WILLIAM HODGSON, Esq. was on Wednesday last elected President of the Columbian Insurance Company of Alexandria, and WM. WILSON, Esq. Secretary.

Among the clearances from New-York, on the 1st inst. was the steam boat Manhattan, bound to New-Orleans and Louisville.

The New-York Assize of Bread rates the 12 cent loaf at 53 oz. and the 6 cent loaf at 26½. Flour 6 dollars 50 cents per barrel.—Although flour sells for 50 cents less here than in New-York, it is well known that our loaves, for the same price, are much smaller—the 12 cent loaf being but 48 ounces.

SLAVERY.

A large and highly respectable meeting of the citizens of New Jersey was held in the Assembly Room, at Trenton, on the 29th October, for the purpose of taking into consideration the subject of slavery in the states hereafter to be admitted into the Union. The meeting was attended by the Governor of the State and most of the members of the legislature, and the gallery was thronged by a concourse of ladies. Joseph Hopkinson, esq. opened the debate in a masterly style, and presented the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:—

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the permission of Slaves in the new states admitted into the Union, has a direct tendency to perpetuate Slavery in these United States, by extending the sphere of its influence and action; to increase its danger by spreading that species of population over the land; and to promote and encourage the importation of Slaves by providing an extensive and growing market for them, in which the demand and competition for the purchase of them, will be such as so greatly to enhance their price, that evil and avaricious men will be tempted to run all hazards of the violation of our laws, by the prospect of the enormous gains of this horrible traffic.

Resolved, That the members of the late Congress who opposed the admission of slaves into the proposed state of Missouri, have the sincere and respectful thanks of this meeting for their manly and unanswerable opposition to a measure fraught with so much mischief and disgrace to our country.

Resolved, That the Senators and Representatives of New-Jersey, in the next Congress, be most earnestly and respectfully solicited to use their utmost means and influence to prevent the introduction of Slavery into Missouri, and every other new state that may hereafter be admitted into the Union.

Resolved, That in the opinion of this meeting the prohibition of Slaves in the new states coming into the Union, is not forbidden by any Article of the Constitution of the United States; but is in full accordance with the principles of the Constitution; and imperiously demanded by the honor and interests of the country.

Resolved, That this meeting has a sincere and respectful confidence in the good and virtuous dispositions of the national legislature on the subject of slavery; and that, however some of the members may be compelled by circumstances to submit to it for the present, they will heartily unite with us in every measure calculated to arrest its progress, and, finally, extinguish its existence.

Resolved, That Elias Boudinot, Joseph Hopkinson, William Newbold, Rev. Simon Wilmur, James Parker and Samuel Emlen, be a committee to correspond with other persons and bodies engaged in supporting the principles of the foregoing resolutions, and to use all lawful and proper means for effecting the same.

ITEMS OF NEWS.

Measures are in train for the organization of a Peace Society in Vermont.

The merchants and traders, in several sections of the Union, are uniting in a memorial to Congress, for the enactment of a uniform system of Bankruptcy. A meeting on this subject has just been held in Boston.

Ferdinand, King of Spain, entered his 36th year, the 13th of last month.

The Duke of Albufera (Suchet) one of Bonaparte's Marshals, has been appointed by King Louis, Ambassador from France to the Ottoman Porte.

The York, (Pa.) Gazette informs us, that Mr. Cooper Oram, a tailor, in that town, has failed for "about eighty four thousand dollars."

During the past season, 44,500 bbls. of mackerel have been inspected in the town of Boston.

A great deal has been said in the public prints about the Twin Sisters in the county of Flunanna, who could tell each other's thoughts. We understand that a large party of ladies and gentlemen have lately visited them; and that the thing, however ingenious, turns out to be an imposture.

UNITED STATES BANK.

The stockholders in the Bank of the U. S convened at Philadelphia, Monday, according to notice, at the banking house in this city. RUFUS, KING, Esq was chosen Chairman, and JOSEPH GALES, jun. Esq. Sec'ty.

On motion of Mr. Worthington, of Ohio, it was agreed that the meeting now proceed to business, and that the chairman be requested to inform the president and directors of the bank accordingly.

On motion of Mr. Worthington,

Resolved, That a committee be appointed, to inquire, in behalf of the stockholders, into the condition of the affairs of the bank, and to call for, receive, and report to this meeting, an exact and particular statement thereof, in order that the actual situation of its affairs may be known to the stockholders; and that the committee consist of a number not exceeding 25 members, to be appointed by the chairman.

After a short interval, the chairman named the following gentlemen to compose the committee:—Mr. Drayton and Mr. Kohne, of South Carolina; Mr. Cumming, of Georgia; Mr. Fitzhugh and Mr. Haxhall, of Virginia; Mr. Worthington, of Ohio; Mr. Brown, of Maryland; Mr. Riddle, of Delaware; Mr. Butler, Mr. Tilghman, Mr. Willing, Mr. Beck, and Mr. Girard, of Pennsylvania;—Mr. Bayard, Mr. Gracie, and Mr. Bronson, of N. York; Mr. Parsons, of Connecticut; Mr. D'Wolf, of R. Island; Mr. Crowninshield, Mr. Sears, and Mr. Pickman, of Massachusetts.

On motion of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Virginia, the meeting adjourned to convene again on Thursday next at twelve o'clock, at Washington Hall.

Mr. Gales has been subsequently appointed secretary to the committee.

GLORIOUS SPECTACLE.

With pride and joy we announce to our readers, that the middle section of the Great Western Canal is finished! The whole line displays one of the grandest spectacles ever exhibited. We are informed by a correspondent, that nothing is seen or heard but congratulation and rejoicing. The firing of cannon—the display of thousands of spectators, and the playing of music, have attended the inlet of those waters, that will hereafter waft countless myriads of property thro' this great and magnificent channel of internal trade. We can now pass from the mouth of the Hudson, to a point four hundred miles distant in the very interior of our vast state. Search the annals of ancient and modern history, trace the march of the most glorious empires that have ever flourished on the face of the globe, and shew us any thing equal to this stupendous work, accomplished in the course of a few months by a single member of the American Union. Well may the nations of Europe wonder and admire! The completion of this section deserves a mention in the records of immortality, and will eternally stand a towering land in the history of mankind. IMPORTANT—FROM THE SPANISH MAINE.

Extract to the Editor, dated St. Thomas, 12th October, 1819.

We had an arrival this morning from Margaritta, by which we learn that the Island has latterly been very sickly; amongst the number of victims to the prevailing fever, are Generals English and Sandusky. Gen. Devereux had not arrived. From Angostura information had been received that Arismendi had effected a revolution in the government of that place, and that General Ordinati was marching in force to oppose him!

The Brutus, Venezuelian brig, is totally lost at Nevis; the Admiral Brion is dismasted at Five Islands, or the Saints. In haste, I am, &c.

P. S. Since writing you this morning, I have been enabled to collect further particulars concerning the late Revolution at Angostura. It is certain that Zuer, late vice-president of the Venezuelian republic, has been deposed, and that Arismendi has been elected; or more properly speaking, appointed president in the room of Bolivar. How these dissensions will end, it is impossible to hazard a conjecture; but I fear the worst consequences from such a state of anarchy and confusion.

I have taken some pains to obtain a correct list of the American vessels now in this harbor, which I now hand you. I am, &c.

Yesterday week, the ship Naiad, just arrived at Salem from Calcutta, was struck by lightning, and the second mate, Mr. William Griffin, of Salem, was instantly killed—he was on the main topsail yard at the time, and on being struck, fell into the sea with his clothes in a flame! The first mate was knocked down, and one of the men severely injured. The vessel received but trifling damage. [Ibid.

William Cobbett, to the regret of no one, we believe, has again left this country for England. He sailed from New-York on Saturday last in the ship Hercules, Captain Cobb, for Liverpool. [Ibid.

Captain Charles Morris is now at Norfolk, and takes command of the squadron consisting of the frigate Constellation, corvette John Adams, and ship Cyane. On the 22d, the John Adams, Capt. Wadsworth, dropped down and anchored between the forts. [Ibid.

FATTING CATTLE.

I have lately read an essay of Mr. Landon, of Connecticut, on what he deems the cheapest method of preparing cattle for the stall, the substance of which is here given.

In the winter of 1817, Mr. L. fatted an ox, and an heifer, in a way that he found cheaper than any common keeping. He fatted the heifer first. Her food for the purpose was chopped straw, scalded and seasoned with salt, to which was added a little meal of Indian corn and oats, and a small allowance of oil cake, or boiled flax-seed—the whole mixed up so as to form a mash. Of this about three pecks was given at a time. In fatting the heifer she only eat about a bushel of boiled flaxseed. Some boiled hay was also given her. The ox was afterwards fatted in pretty much the same manner, as nearly as we are able to understand this report of the two cases; for Mr. L. appears to have been more of an adept in fatting, than in describing the manner with clearness and precision. According to his account, however, it appears that his profits in pursuing the mode was very uncommon, and he says that the fatting of these cattle afforded more clear profit, than he had derived from all the cattle he had ever before fatted. It would seem, indeed, that he considerably more than doubled the price of his cattle in fatting them, & that the expense of it was very inconsiderable.

This being the usual time for commencing the business of fatting for the winter store, I have thought proper to exhibit the plan of Mr. L. from a belief that it is excellently adapted for fatting cattle with the least expense. It will readily be perceived, however, that the fall pasture is calculated to obviate the expense of using boiled hay; but I have no doubt that when good hay is steam-boiled, which may be done with a little expense, it is just as nutricious for cattle as when in its green state.

A PLOUGH BOY.

Boston, Oct. 23.

ST. PAUL'S CHURCH.

The edifice, now erecting in Common street, of grey granite, reminds us in some particulars of the Ionic temple of Illissus, in ATHENS, one of those works of antiquity which form a study for modern architects. The church is designed by Mr. Parris an artist of rising celebrity in New-England, no less characterised by his severe classical taste, than by accuracy in his plans. This Grecian Temple just mentioned was anciently dedicated to Ceres, held in high veneration in Athens, and was the place for celebrating the lesser mysteries—it was afterwards converted by the moderns into a church, called St. Mary's on the Rock.

St. Paul's Church will differ from the temple in the number of columns, forming the portico. In the model* before us, six beautiful columns, about 32 feet in height, of Potomac stone, rise from a basement of five feet elevation, supporting a plain frieze and cornice, and a pediment containing a design in baso relievo, (by Mr. Willard, the Sculptor) within its tympanum. The ascent to the platform on which the portico is reared will be by a flight of eight steps, from the street, fronting the mall. Upon each extremity of the flanks of the edifice will be figures larger than life in alto-relievo, representing St. Paul and St. Peter, and the sculpture ornamenting the pediment consisting of figures, will exhibit Paul before Agrippa, who is pronouncing the memorable passage, 'almost thou persuadest me to be a christian.' The extreme angle of the pediment is to be 60 feet from the ground. The body of the church is to 114 feet long, and including the platform of 15 feet, the whole edifice will be 129 feet in length—and 72 feet 6 inches in width. Under the portico are to be three doors, one in the centre and two at the flanks, opening into the church—and above the entrances, extending along the front, is to be a table 50 feet in length. The whole design indicates the origin of a new taste among us, by which high and uncouth steeples erected upon low buildings in bad proportions, will be abolished—and a purer idea of architectural beauty be introduced.

* This may be seen at the Boston Athenæum, which has been much improved of late by numerous accessions.

FROM CAPT. SINCLAIR'S CURSORY REMARKS ON THE ARMY.

A captain of a company in the guards came to the grand parade, to attend his regiment to Hyde Park on a general field day: after parading in front of the regiment for several minutes in search of his company, which he could not find, he turned to the adjutant, and requested to know why it was not formed with the battalion? The adjutant replied, it was, and pointed to the company.—This mistake produced no small diversion to the other officers, who thought, the captain might, at least have known his non commissioned officers, and by them, his company. The captain assured them, that he had always known his own company before, by a man in it with a large nose, and this man having been unluckily left sick at the hospital, he had no means of distinguishing it from any other.

THE HORSE OF THE COLUMBIA RIVER, will rank with the finest of his species in the known world. His size is fifteen or sixteen hands, even in a state of nature, unprovided with food or shelter by the hands of man. His form exhibits much bone and muscle, but not the mass of flesh which is found on the fat European horse. His limbs are clean and slender; the neck arched and rising; the hoofs round and hard; and the nostrils wide and thin—He is equally distinguished for speed and bottom. He runs rapidly, and for a long time; rivalling in this respect all we have heard of the English hunting horses.—In other respects, in the docility of his nature, in his capacity to sustain hunger and hardship, in his powers to provide food for himself and his master, he is wholly and unrivalled. He is readily trained to the business of his master's life, that of hunting, and pursues the game with all the keenness of the dog and with equal sagacity and more success. He will run down the deer in the prairies with or without his master on his back, and when overtaken will hold it with his teeth. When rode after game he needs no guiding of the bridle to direct him. He will pursue a drove of buffaloes, and coming up with them, will stop one by biting him with his teeth.—The animal bitten immediately wheels to defend himself with his horn; the horse wheels at the same instant to avoid it; and at this moment when the side of the buffaloe is presented, the Indian lets fly an arrow which often passes entirely through his body. The wounded animal always turns out of the drove to lay down and die; the horse and his rider pursues the gang to make fresh slaughter. Another horse trained to a second part of the game, with other Indians, take the trail of the wounded buffaloe, which is butchered and carried into camp—These things seem incredible; but we have them upon the authority of Lewis and Clark, and a great number of traders who have been upon the Columbian river since the time of their discovery; some of whom are now in this town.

The capacity of this horse to sustain fatigue, and to provide food for himself, is equally astonishing. He is galloped all day, sometimes eighty or ninety miles in the space of ten or twelve hours, and is then left to shift for himself during the night. In the spring, summer and autumn he finds no difficulty. The short and sweet grass of that country gives him an abundant and nutritious repast. In the winter, and towards the mountains, where the snow is several feet deep, his unerring instinct tells him where to search: he scrapes away the snow with his hoof till he comes to the ground, and rooting there with his nose finds wherewith of moss and grass to sustain his life. On the borders of creeks and rivers he feeds on the boughs of willows, and other soft wood which his master has sometimes the kindness to fall for him with a hatchet.

This fine animal is found on the banks of the Columbia, in latitude 46, in the great plain which lies on the borders of this river between the upper and lower range of mountains. His origin is traced to Mexico; thence to Spain; thence to the north of Africa, where the Arabian barb is found in all the perfection of his species. His fine form, his generous spirit, and his noble qualities are preserved upon the Columbia river; and certainly it is worthy the experiment to endeavor to transplant him into other parts of the United States. Many citizens have attempted to do so, but have always been robbed by the Indians of the Rocky Mountains. Lewis and Clark procured seventy-three, said by Governor Clark to be the most beautiful collection of horses that he has ever seen together before or since; but the whole number was stolen from them by Indians who followed their trail and never ceased their operations until they had carried off the last. It is to be hoped that the military establishments forming on the upper Missouri will facilitate the attempts which will no doubt be renewed to introduce this fine breed into the settled parts of our continent.

Schr. Rebecca & Polly, Carson, 8 days from Richmond; coal to Jesse Brown.

Schr. New-Packet, Snow, 14 days from Boston; hemp, sugar and iron to Wm. Fowle & Co.

Sloop Express, Dyer, 22 days from Portland; lumber, fish, rum, potatoes, &c. to the master—Four passengers.—Left below a schr. from New-Bedford, bound up.

Schr. Emily, Spilman, 63 days from St. Jago de Cuba; sugar, molasses, hides, honey and segars to M. Miller & Son and John & Thomas Vowell. The day after leaving port, was boarded by the Patriot brig Wilson, and treated politely. Sept. 9th, off Cape Corunts, was boarded by a felucca, under Spanish colors, who took from us under pretence of necessity, some sugar, coffee, raw hides and segars—in other respects treated with politeness, not suffering the boat's crew to lay hands on any thing, or even to come out of their boat. Oct. 5d, lat. 23, lon. 82, was boarded by schnr. Almeida, Wilson master, treated politely, and generously supplied with water and provisions—even conveying the articles to me in his own boats, for which I return my sincere thanks with gratitude. Oct. 15th, Mr. Henry Hancock, mate of the Emily, a native of Massachusetts, was unfortunately knocked overboard and drowned—he was a promising young man, and I regret his death very much. Off the Havana spoke the schrs. Idemon, and Young Brutus, of Baltimore—the first got in I expect the same day, the latter the next.

Missing.

ABOUT seven years past, I borrowed a small old wire cage of Mr. Rt. Conway, to put a bird in at the Museum. The cage remained in my possession about ten days, and having no further use for it, I sent it to him, and supposed he had received it, as I never heard any thing of it till lately. It has been determined by a magistrate that I must return the same cage within ten days, or pay the sum of five dollars, being the value set upon it. Perhaps some person may have this cage, without knowing to whom it belongs. I would be much obliged, if I could receive any information on this subject.

Thirty Dollars Reward.

ABSCONDED from the residence of his master, in Washington city, on the evening of Thursday last, a negro boy named SAM, who calls himself SAM BROWN.—He is about 19 years of age, not of the deepest black, and is a stout, well set likely boy. He had on when he went away, a blue cloth jacket, corduroy pantaloons, and white vest: and took with him, besides, a blue cloth coat, white pantaloons, and white vest. He is the property of William Lowndes, Esq. and it is supposed he has been induced, in the absence of his master, to leave home, by some designing person. It is probable he will aim to reach some northern port, or to get on board of some boat or vessel in the river. Whoever will deliver the said boy to the Jailor of Washington city, shall receive the above reward, on application at the office of the National Intelligencer.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY on the 25th of April last, a man called NED, formerly the property of Mr. Fitzhugh, of Fairfax, and by him sold to Hepburn & Dundas. He had on when he went away an old country blue and white cloth coat, and kersey trowsers—his right hand in a sling, in consequence of the kick of a horse. Ned is a stupid looking fellow, and hesitates very much when he speaks. I will give fifty dollars if apprehended in the District, or the above reward for apprehending him out of the District, so that I get him again.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling,

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment.

Was Committed,

TO the jail for the county of Alexandria on the 3d inst. as a runaway, a negro man called BEN HENDERSON, supposed to be the property of George Thornton, of King George county. The said negro is about 50 years of age; 5 feet 6 inches high; bald head; and a shoemaker by trade. The owner is desired to come prove property, pay charges, and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

ANDW. ROUNSAVELL,

september 8 Jailor.

100 Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. WM. MASON.

Charles County, Md. June 1.

The editors of the National Intelligencer and Baltimore Federal Gazette will insert the above until forbid, and send their accounts to Port Tobacco for payment.

June 11 tf

100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bearskin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. WM HAWLEY. Washington, Rev. WM. H. WILMER, Alexandria, Rev. OLIVER NORRIS, Alexandria, Rev. REUEL KEITH, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New-York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage o the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of Biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.
